The seven miles seem to be slighted by the new administration.

Senator John C. Spooner was in New York last Monday, and was the guest of Senator Evans.

The state senate has passed a bill increasing the salaries of the circuit judges from $3,000 to $4,000.

The closing part of Cleveland's inaugural locks as if he proposes to kick over the democratic traces.

Carl Schurz has been fooling around Cleveland a good deal lately, but Cleveland doesn't take the hint, and Schurz gets no appointment.

Minnesota is going to hang for murder hereafter. The chief advantage of this is that it effectually bars a pardon of executed murderers.

The hunger and thirst of the democrats is well established by the fact that 100,000 of that party crowded in Washington on inauguration day.

Senator Edmunds gave a congress a good dig in the ribs when he made a few remarks adjourning the body sine die. It deserved all it got from the crusty senator.

Down in a Massachusetts town the request was made that all democrats who wanted office should raise their hands. Every democrat in town raised his.

The assembly has passed a bill appropriating $1,000 to the Pacific fair on condition that no liquor shall be sold on the grounds. A violation of this provision shall work a forfeiture of the appropriation.

Mr. Tilden, the misanthrope, couldn't find time to attend the inauguration. Nothing could locate the feelings of the old man more than an inauguration in which he was not the supreme man of the hour.

Carl Schurz complains because there are not more children in this country. That is just like Schurz. When he finds fault with anything, he doesn't try to remedy the evil by going ahead and setting an example.

The consideration of the high license bill has been postponed one week by the state legislature. Discussing the high license bill in the legislature is a good deal like picking up a poker by the hot end. There is a dread about it.

The United States senate, regardless of party, paid a handsome compliment to General Grant. When the president's nomination placing him on the retired list was voted up, there was a thundering yea, but when the no was put there was a dead silence.

The resolution in the assembly, ordering the superintendent of public property to fire Arthur out of office with 50 guns and to fire Cleveland in with 50 more, was killed. The mixture didn't suit either party and it was very wise to kill the resolution.

When the presidential party was approaching Washington last Tuesday morning, Mr. Cleveland looked out upon the city, and seeing the great monument, turned to Lamont and said, "Dan, just look at that high chimney. What a big manufacturing shop that must be." Dan hid his smiling face from the president-elect, but said nothing.

The Rev. E. D. Huntley closes his conference year at Metropolitan Methodist church, Washington, next Sunday. It is expected, however, that he will be returned for he is very popular in his church and in the senate. As the Methodist element is pretty strong in the United States senate, it is said that Mr. Huntley will be re-elected chaplain.

A bill authorizing the convocation of a constitutional convention was introduced in the Arkansas legislature. It is a rejected sort of a constitution, and one member felt called upon to defeat it, which he did in these words: "We don't need no new constitution, for this here one will last several years yet. I don't believe in buyin' a new pair of britches as long as the old pair will do the knock around in." The bill was defeated.

THE REPUBLICAN'S HIGH LICENSE.

A question which causes a good deal of unrest among a certain class of republican members of the legislature, is that of high license. To talk the matter over among themselves, the republican members held a secret caucus on Tuesday day evening, at which Mr. Norcross presided. According to the Journal, the various license bills before the legislature were thoroughly discussed. A great multitude of views were expressed and the utmost tolerance for diverse opinions prevailed. The sentiment of the caucus as developed by the discussion was strongly in favor of a minimum license only being established, the maximum to be left to local option. There was a manifest desire to have some measure enacted which would entirely separate the offices from the liquor license matter in time of election, and that no law should be passed fixing the minimum at less than $200.

A committee was appointed to draft such a bill as was thought would express the sentiment of the republicans. This question will come up on a special order next week, when it will likely be disposed of.

The democrats also held a caucus, and as a matter of course voted solidly to oppose any attempt to increase the liquor license. This action is not different from what might be expected from that party. If a high license law is enacted in Wisconsin, the republicans will have to do the enacting without any help from the democrats.

ABOUT THE ANGEL STABLE.

A leading democratic paper of New York, informs the democratic manager that it is an opportune time for the party to begin the task of "cleaning out the Angel stable of republican profligacy and corruption." There are other democratic papers east and west, north and south, joining in the same chorus. When sensible men, whether they be democrats or republicans, know that such talk is the silliest possible unbecoming.

No democratic paper, whose editor is not a political idiot, will talk such bold nonsense as that of the democratic party "cleaning out the Angel stable of profligacy and corruption." Let us see what fools such democratic editors make of themselves. When the democrats had obtained congressional power in 1875, they promised the country that they would "clean out the Angel stable." Probably they were sincere in that they promised, but what they do?

Let us see. They created a number of democratic investigating committees. They were to stick their noses in every department of the government. They were going to make things lively for the republicans. They intended to catch republican thieves and hold them up for public reprobation. These committees had the power to do most things, except to unsear republican frauds. The committees were clothed with necessary power to send for persons and papers, to examine all witnesses, and to open all records to their hearts' content. They kept at this business for months. They went doing here and there trying to find the Angel stable. But to their humiliation and disgust they could find no such place. They diligently searched for republican frauds and could not find them, and the committees quit their foolishness with chagrin and disappointment.

The country hasn't forgotten this piece of interesting history. And since then, the democrats have gained additional congressional power. They didn't talk any more for some time about the Angel stable; and now the country laughs contemptuously at the haste of the democrats in advising a cleaning out of the Angel stable of republican profligacy and corruption. It will be a good thing if the democrats will begin such an investigation. The republican party can stand by its record, and can face any democratic smelting committee that can be organized. The more the party is investigated the more it will appear that it has been a good and faithful servant of the people.

The Gazette hopes that between now and 1888, the democratic administration will put a number of democratic investigating committees in the field. Let them make the committees of dyed-in-the-wool democrats, the regular mossbacks, and the result will add honor to the republican party.

CLEVELAND'S CABINET.

President Cleveland has selected some of the ablest men in the democratic party for his cabinet ministers. Mr. Bayard, of Delaware, who is named for secretary of state, has been in the senate since 1869, when he succeeded his father. He is a lawyer by profession, is 50 years old, and is one of the ablest exponents of democratic principles in the senate.

Mr. Manning, who has been nominated for the treasury, has been an editor, politician and a banker, and his nomination is a general surprise to the country. He is a sharp, energetic politician, is the trusted friend of Tilden, and was manager of the Cleveland campaign in New York. He has never held a high social position, and all his methods have shown that he was for Manning first and for some one else second. He is 53 years old.

Judge Endicott, of Massachusetts, who is 57 years old, has been a conservative democrat since 1850, before that time being a whig. He has been on the state supreme bench for a number of years, but resigned in 1882 on account of ill health. He is an able jurist, and his nomination for the war department is a credit to the administration.

Senator Garland, of Arkansas, the attorney general, is one of the ablest lawyers in this country, and therefore the nomination can be commended. He has been in the senate since 1877, and is considered one of the ablest men in that body. He is 62 years old.

Our readers know all about Colonel Vilas who has been called to the post-office department. As a lawyer he has no superior in Wisconsin, and as a scholar and a gentleman, he is an honor to the state. He is next to the youngest member of the cabinet being only 44 years old.

Mr. Lamar is the oldest member of the cabinet, being 60 years old. He has been in the senate from Mississippi since 1877. He is a man of superior education and is a splendid orator.

Mr. Whitney who will manage the navy department, is the young member of the cabinet, and is 40 years old. He is a lawyer by profession, and is at present an incorporation counsel in New York city.

The Gazette is in hopes that the cabinet would be confirmed. If we must have a democratic cabinet, it is as good a one as could be selected, excepting, probably, Mr. Manning. We do not believe the republican senators desire to do up on record as obstructionists, and we hope they will not be, and for the reason that the president's nomination will be confirmed.

THE CABINET.

The Nominations Sent to the Senate To-day.

The Confirmations Postponed on Motion of Riddleberger.

His Opposition to Bayard on Dynamite Grounds.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—President Cleveland sent to the senate to-day the following nominations for cabinet ministers:

Thomas Francis Bayard, of Delaware, secretary of state.

David B. Manning, of New York, secretary of the treasury.

W. O. Endicott, of Massachusetts, secretary of war.

W. C. Whitney, of New York, secretary of the navy.

Lucius Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi, secretary of the interior.

W. F. Vilas, of Wisconsin, postmaster general.

Augustus H. Garland, of Arkansas, attorney general.

The senate went into executive session, but adjourned till to-morrow without acting on the nominations. It is understood that the reason was the objection of Riddleberger, of Virginia, to the confirmation of Bayard, on the ground that his alleged anti-Irish sentiments and action relative to the dynamite affairs, he being the author of the senate resolution condemning the London explosions.

LONG-DISTANCE TELEPHONING.

A Big Scheme Proposed by the Bell Telephone Company.

BOSTON, March 5.—The Bell Telephone company has petitioned for a change of its charter so as to allow of an increase in its capital stock for building lines for long-distance telephoning. The company proposes to build a long-distance line between Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Springfield, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other principal cities, the first section of the new line to be 5,000 miles long, with 247,720 miles of single copper wire, and to cost at the inside $15,500,000.

Wanted to Trust in God and Great Britain.

Berlin, March 5.—Dr. Robins, the explorer, acting as agent of Germany, has notified the senate of Zanzibar that Germany will assume a protectorate of 2,500 square miles of territory in his dominions acquired by the German Colonization society. It was the sultan of Zanzibar who created Dr. Robins on his arrival with the statement that he wanted no German protectorate, and would trust in God and Great Britain.

Consider It Unsanitary.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 5.—It is stated that the special envoy to Great Britain has instructions to inform Lord Granville that the portico commission's England's answer to Turkey's request for an explanation of Italy's conduct in the Sudan, as vague and unsatisfactory.

A Well-Known Publisher Dying.

PHILADELPHIA, March 5.—Mr. T. S. Arnold, the well-known author and publisher of Arthur's Home Magazine, is lying dangerously ill at his residence in this city, and his death is hourly expected.

Gen. Grant's Condition.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Col. Fred Grant said Wednesday night to a reporter that his father, Gen. Grant, rested easier and was in all respects better in health than he has been for some days previous.

Must Work Without Pay.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 5.—Monday being the fourth day, the legislators are not drawing pay now, and are crowding bills to final passage.

The Cabinet Not Named.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The president made no nomination of cabinet officers to the senate Wednesday.

The democrats held another salute last evening and the Catholic concert band played a few national tunes in front of democratic headquarters, and democratic enthusiasm reigned supreme, and all were satisfied.

The ladies of the Baptist church and society will hold their annual meeting for the purpose of organizing for mission work for the coming year, at the church parlors to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

The roller skating rinks were well patronized last evening. At the Bower City rink the Bower City band furnished some excellent music, and at the K-C roller rink the roller rink party the Catholic band was present and added life to the scene.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Holleran is thrown into mourning by the death of their little two-year old daughter Annie, who died at an early hour this morning. In their sad bereavement the family have the sympathy of many friends. The funeral takes place at the home, Hickory street, second ward, at ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

Died—In Ulster township, Floyd county, Iowa, January 20th, 1885, at the residence of her niece, Mrs. John Bell, Miss Charlotte C. Lawrence, after a week's illness, in the 74th year of her age. The Charles City (Iowa) Intelligencer, in a brief obituary, says: "Aunt Charlotte, as she was called by all who knew her, was of a kind and loving disposition, always thinking of the comfort of others, regardless of her own." Her remains were borne to the Charles City cemetery, and interred by the wife of a sister, Mrs. Phoebe Bailey, who died four years ago. Miss Lawrence was a sister of Rev. G. W. Lawrence, of this city.

Mr. O. H. Dahl intends to give a concert here Wednesday evening, March 11, with the assistance of some of his pupils, some other local talent, and Miss Jennie Louise Merrill, of Beloit. Mr. Dahl's last year at Cincinnati was devoted to solo playing with Prof. Chas. Baetens, and solo works as well as technique with Prof. S. E. Jacobsen and E. Baum. The solo work with Prof. Baetens consisted mostly of DeBeriot's music—his airs, fantasies, duos and concertos. Prof. Baetens is a graduate under DeBeriot, and no one better understands DeBeriot than Mr. Baetens, who was drilled as DeBeriot wished his compositions rendered.

Frank Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, from Franklin street, while handling a can of powder yesterday during the firing of the democratic salute, came in too close proximity to the gun, and by some unforeseen accident the powder was exploded, burning the lad quite severely about the head and face. It was first reported that his head was blown out, but such is not the case, although his face is full of burned powder and swollen quite badly. Dr. Clark attended the boy, and it is thought he is not permanently injured. All hope so at least. The boy is only about two years old, and ought not to have been near the gun, saying nothing about being entrusted or allowed with the powder.

Mr. George Grant, formerly of this city, but more recently of Shopton, left yesterday for Wichita, Kansas, where he will make his home in the future. Mrs. Grant and daughter, Miss Cora E. Grant, will visit friends in this city and in Madison and Belleville before going to Kansas. They are now the guests of Mrs. John Gowley. Mrs. Grant is in very poor health, and is unable to be around the house except by the aid of a cane, and will be unable to see her friends in this city unless they call. Mr. Grant will embark in the sugar cane business in Kansas, and his many friends will wish him success.

Our readers will remember that Rev. Dr. Talmage will deliver his lecture: "The Bright Side of Things," at the Congregational church on Saturday evening. None should miss this opportunity of hearing him. The Cincinnati Commercial says: "That Mr. Talmage is a popular preacher can not be denied, as he addresses the largest audience in Brooklyn and perhaps the largest regular audience in America. He fulfills Garrison's idea of a preacher, and talks of religion as if it were really a matter of supreme importance. His sermons read like plays, and must entertain, if they do not convert, his hearers; and we have no reason to doubt the latter, and commend them to such as enjoy this class of literature."

Our correspondent X in last evening's paper was somewhat hasty in making charges concerning the condition of the "open sewer" and the prevalence of scarlet fever in the Federal block. We are informed by Mr. Fredendall and occupants of the block that there is not a case of scarlet fever in the block, and never has been; and we are satisfied that X did not thoroughly post himself when he wrote the communication, or he would not have made such an error. Mr. Fredendall is a heavy tax-payer, and while his building is located on the corner by the open sewer, which is not considered a nuisance by the occupants of the building, yet it is covered sewer is demanded, the city should build it. We are satisfied that an injustice was done Mr. Fredendall charging that scarlet fever prevailed in his block, when such was not the case, and we contradict the statement made by X, knowing it to be an error.

They were out late holding a little justification over the inauguration, and when they (there were two, one a native of the Emerald Isle, the other we believe a native born, or from the Dominion) climbed the stairs of the hotel, were entering "halls of comfort and joy." Entering their room they commenced pulling the bell. The old man was on watch at the office, and in no hurry to answer the bell call. The bell kept up the racket until the o. m. lost all patience, and concluded that he would go up and put a stop to the unusual noise. He gently rapped at the door, the door was quickly opened and the o. m. walked in and in an excited tone inquired the cause of all the disturbance. "For the sake of humanity," responded one, "read up a platform. I want to make a speech on the urgent occasion." The o. m. replied that they had better hire a hall, and retired.

MISS LOUISA A. BLOUNT died at the residence of her brother, Hon. J. A. Blount, third ward, at 9:30 o'clock this morning, of pneumonia, aged 65 years and 8 months. Deceased was born at Danville, Vermont, and came to Janesville, with her parents in 1847, settling in the town of Janesville. For many years she was a teacher and at one time taught in the old school house near Burr Hobbs's farm. She made her home with her brother, Hon. J. A. Blount, coming to the city with him. She was a kind hearted woman, always ready to assist others in their need, and she enjoyed the acquaintance of many of the early settlers of this neighborhood.

The funeral will be held at the house on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. Dr. M. G. Hedge, of the Baptist church, conducting the services.

A Club Organized for the Second Assembly District.

A number of the prohibitionists of the second assembly district met at the office of Mr. William Street, in the Phelps block, last night, for the purpose of organizing a club in this district.

Hon. William A. Lawrence occupied the chair, and Mr. H. W. Sykes acted as secretary. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President—Wm. A. Lawrence.

1st Vice president—Geo. J. Kellogg. 2nd Vice president—J. M. Alden. Secretary—H. W. Sykes.

Treasurer—George Field.

The above officers also constitute the executive committee.

The following committees were appointed: Literary committee—William Street, W. H. Polansky and M. DeGroot.

Finance committee—James Harris, G. W. Lawrence and C. C. Field.

The constitution and by-laws were adopted and signed, and a permanent organization effected.

An Old Gazette.

Dr. O. P. Robinson returns to us a copy of the Janesville Gazette, published Thursday, March 30th, 1885, being of volume 3, number 29. There are many articles in this number that are now valuable. On the first page is printed a column account of Clay's visit to Girard college; the treaty of peace between the United States and Mexico; and its ratification by the United States senate; poetry, a story and business ads. The second page—the arrival of the steamship Cambria, from Liverpool.—The abdication of Louis Philippe and the establishment of the republic in France. Editorials—a plea for the holding of a town election in the village, and other items of interest then. Much of this page is devoted to the French revolution. Local news and advertisements fill the remaining columns. The Gazette at that time was published by Alden & Grattan, and was under the editorial management of Hon. Levi Alden, now of the Madison State Journal. Among the local items in this number we notice the following, which we gladly republish, as the production contained, has in every word been realized, and has ever been maintained: "New-Book Store—We understand that Mr. James Sutherland intends to go into the book business extensively in this village, and that he has already bought out the stock of M. B. Eldson, and will make large additions to this stock as soon as navigation opens. We are right glad to hear this. A full and extensive assortment of books is much needed here, and we have no doubt they would sell well. Mr. Sutherland is a gentleman every way worthy of the confidence and patronage of the reading public, and moreover, by his connection with book establishments at the east will have facilities for affording books on the most reasonable terms, and of the most choice and varied selection."

We return thanks to Dr. Robinson for handing us this old paper, which has been well preserved, and in appearance does not indicate age.

Madison Notes.

Madison, March 4th. It is thought that the session will adjourn about the 23rd of this month. Prior to the 3rd reading of the high license bill the republicans of the assembly met in a caucus last evening in order to more fully determine the sense of the party. After much talk and little progress a committee of four were appointed to draw up amendments to the bill with instructions not to fix the minimum at $100, and with no maximum limit stated. It is thought that with such a wide range the committee will be able to settle on something satisfactory to all factions of the party.

The science hall appropriation (as it is called), which was passed in the assembly the 24th of last month, comes up before the senate as a special order of business to-morrow at eleven o'clock, strange to say the bill has become a party affair, the republicans in the senate being inclined to reduce the appropriation from $230,000 to $150,000, while the other party are in favor of passing the bill without amendments.

The agricultural college bill calling for $150,000 or more, is being held back by its managers until the fate of the science hall is determined. However there seems to be little doubt but what it will pass by a good majority.

A number of the University boys had been heard to aver their determination of firing a salute of three guns at noon to honor the new president of the United States, but strange to say when they arrived gymnasium where the artillery is kept, they found that all the guns were spiked.

The municipality of Madison have suddenly awakened to the fact that there are two gambling dens in their midst and last night the sheriff and chief of police combined their forces and backed by a lot of orderlies raided them. The band consisted of cards, chips, etc., together with about a dozen prominent and highly connected citizens. The proprietor of one of the houses was fined $200 and costs this morning in the municipal court, the other cases have not come up yet.

An End to Bone Marrow. Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received so much benefit from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. Have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctor told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Jackson's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at 50 cents a bottle, and Jackson's Arnica Salve at 25c per box by F. Sherer & Co.
